

CANNOT CHANGE DELEGATE BASIS

Law Committee Rules on National Body's Power Over Conventions.

EXTRA MEETING LEGAL

Following Decision, Call for Gathering Next Year to Reorganize Party Is Fully Expected.

The law committee, a subcommittee of the Republican national committee created at the time of the organization of the Republican executive committee in Washington a few months ago, at a meeting in this city yesterday unanimously agreed that there is no power in the Republican national committee to change the basis of representation in the Republican national convention. This question arose in connection with a demand by Progressive Republicans that the basis of representation be changed to cut down the number of delegates from the South.

Question of Representation.

This call probably will provide for delegates to be chosen in the usual way of selecting delegates for the Presidential convention, and this convention is expected to deal with the question of changing the basis of representation, now that the law committee has decided that there is no power in the national committee to make the change. The committee had before it the matter of the form of call to be issued and whether in selecting delegates the district unit should prevail. Low Call and the Indiana have Presidential primary laws which require that delegates to a national convention shall be elected from the State-at-large, which provision ignores the district unit.

Members Who Were Present.

Charles B. Warren, of Michigan, presided at the meeting as chairman of the Law Committee. He held the proxy also of Senator Jones of Washington, who was unable to be present. The other members of the committee were: Chairman Granger, of Ohio; James A. Fowler, of Tennessee; Representative James R. Mann of Illinois; and Roy O. West, of Illinois, all of whom were present. After the committee was created, Mr. C. B. Warren, of Pennsylvania, died and Chairman Warren had appointed former Solicitor General W. M. Bullitt, of Kentucky, to succeed him. Mr. Bullitt was not able to reach Washington yesterday.

Chairman Warren will prepare a formal report to the Republican National Committee, which will be submitted before the meeting of the committee in this city on December 10.

Among Republican leaders at the Capital there is the keenest interest in the forthcoming meeting of the Republican National Committee, and in the National Republican Convention, which will undoubtedly be called by the committee. It is the opinion that the convention will meet in Chicago, St. Louis, or some other point in the Middle West.

Coincidentally with the fact that there was a little gossip as to a Presidential ticket. The name of Charles E. Hughes, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, was put forward for the Presidency, and the names of Senator Cummings, Senator Borah, and other progressive Republicans were mentioned for the Vice Presidency. This ticket was being discussed as affording a rallying ground for the discordant factions of the Republican party.

WORK ON POSTOFFICE RUSHED.

New Building Will Be Ready for Use by April 1.

A step further in the endeavor to make Washington more beautiful will be accomplished April 1, 1914, when the new Postoffice Building, next to the Union Station, will be ready for occupancy. It will be used exclusively for city postal business, the room capacity of the building on Pennsylvania Avenue having been found inadequate to fulfill the requirements of both municipal and Federal affairs.

The exterior is of Bethel white granite, manufactured and produced by the Woodbury Granite Company, of Hardwick, Vt. Many have mistaken the stone for marble on account of its whiteness and uniformity.

Man Run Over by Automobile.

Daniel Cooper, sixty-five years old, of 119 S Street Northwest, while crossing U Street at Twelfth shortly before 6 o'clock last evening, was knocked down and run over by an automobile driven by Clarence P. Rogers, sixteen years old, son of C. F. Rogers, of 11 Quincy Place Northwest. Cooper was painfully bruised on the arms and body. Young Rogers carried him to his home in his machine. Dr. A. F. Hunt attended the injured man.

"Christ of the Twentieth Century."

More than 400 residents of Bloomington and Eckington attended the union service of the churches of the two sections at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, South, last night. "Christ of the Twentieth Century" was the theme of the sermon delivered by the Rev. W. P. Johnston, pastor of the church. The service tonight will be held at the Bethany Baptist Church. The sermon will be on "Saints of a Godly Life."

Nation's Capital in the "Movies."

Motion picture films of points of interest in the District were made yesterday by M. Bennett, of New York City. The films will be used in different cities in the interest of publicity movements. Mr. Bennett was accompanied on his tour of the District by Edward H. Droop, president of the Publicity Club, of the Chamber of Commerce.

Gun Factory Gives Ball.

Everybody at work in the navy yard and for several squares in the vicinity of the Naval Gun Factory last night basked in the thought of labor and put their "best clothes" on. The Naval Gun Factory Band Pleasure Club gave a grand ball in the sail loft of the yard. More than 200 couples participated.

URGE U. S. CONTROL OF WAGE.

Railroad Magnates Say That Government Should Regulate Pay.

New York, Nov. 11.—Railroad officials here were today reluctant to discuss the award of the Erdman Arbitration Board, by which the conductors and trainmen gained a wage increase of more than $500,000, but practically all agreed that wage regulations should in the future be placed more directly under the control of the government.

Frank Trumbull, chairman of the executive committee of the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, said his roads were not affected, but strongly urged direct government control of the wage question. William S. Hooper, vice president and general manager of the Central of New Jersey, said that the report that the coal roads had been the hardest hit by the decision could not be verified until the experts finish the analysis of the award.

POLICE SEARCHING CITY FOR NINE BILLYGOATS

Animals Belonging to Sam Caxio Are Missing and Efforts Fail to Locate Them.

Nine billygoats of assorted colors are missing from the yard and stable of Sam Caxio, of 412 First Street Northeast, and the police of the Sixth and Ninth precincts are trying to find them. Where they have gone nobody has been able to tell. An investigation of all trash barrels and baskets in all back yards and alleys in the Northeast showed no sign of the missing animals, and the police are mystified.

They were missed early yesterday morning.

CLEVELAND STILL IN GRIP OF SNOW

Fall of Ten-Foot Depth Has Tied Up Trains and Wire Service.

FAMINE NOW THREATENS

Damage in City Is Placed at $1,000,000 and to Shipping at $500,000,000.

Buffalo, Nov. 11.—With an abatement of the terrific gale that scourged the Great Lakes for sixty hours, there are fourteen known dead, probably thirty to forty more lost, three steamers sunk, and a dozen driven ashore. The damage probably will run into the millions. Wreckage of Lightship No. 22, stationed in Lake Erie, off Point Abino, fifteen miles from Buffalo, was washed upon the beach at the foot of Michigan Street here today, and it is believed the crew of six has perished.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 11.—Cleveland has been cut off from the outside world for the past forty-eight hours, and at a late hour tonight but one telegraph wire was working. The sixty-mile gale which has swept the city has subsided somewhat, but a blanket of snow, varying in depth from four to ten feet, covers the city and suburbs. Numerous lives are believed to have been lost and hundreds are threatened with a famine, unless the streets are cleared within the next few hours. The warm weather of the past few days caused the houses to be left open for midwinter weather, and in the poorer sections the supplies of food and fuel have been practically exhausted for several hours.

But few trains have arrived during the day and those brought only passengers and mail.

The interurban trolley lines, over which much of the city's food is transported, have been paralyzed for two days and there is little hope of traffic being resumed until late tomorrow.

Much Loss of Life Feared.

The property loss is estimated at more than $1,000,000. The gas supply is almost exhausted and many of the electric light plants have been closed to prevent contamination from the live wires which are down all over the city. The loss of life on the Great Lakes is feared to have been heavy. More than 100 vessels, owned by firms in this city, have not been heard from for two days. The big freighter J. G. Garmer, has been blown ashore near Lorain, and her crew of twenty-two men are in constant peril, as the life savers have been unable to reach the vessel through the gale.

Skip Damage $50,000,000.

The freighter Westford is believed to have been lost. Five bodies, wearing life belts, were washed ashore near London, Ontario, today.

Shipping men here estimated tonight that the values of the cargoes and vessels now missing total $50,000,000. There are about 3,000 seamen on the vessels. The damage to shipping, and especially to small boats in Cleveland harbor, has been heavy. Scores of the smaller craft have been blown ashore or far out on the lake.

A report from Port Huron states that forty lives have been lost through the wrecking of a large freighter near there during the storm. The vessel is floating bottom-side up, and the captain of a wrecking crew which reached the vessel tonight said he believed a smaller vessel was pinned under the large freighter.

"JOHN DOE" WITNESS ADMITS LIE; FAINTS

George H. McGuire Swears After Telling to Court that He Sent "M." Telegram.

New York, Nov. 11.—George H. McGuire, of Syracuse, collapsed in the stand today at the John Doe graft case, after admitting he had lied last week, when he denied under oath having sent John A. Hennessy the famous "M." telegram of Tammany graft among up-State contractors.

The sudden reversal in the attitude and testimony of McGuire followed quickly after he had been asked in the day certain facts in the possession of District Attorney Whitman had been presented to the grand jury. It was necessary for ambulance physicians from a nearby hospital to administer stimulants before McGuire could leave the building. At the time of the adjournment made necessary by the collapse of the witness, it was announced that McGuire would be held in custody at the stand at the next hearing which was fixed for Thursday afternoon.

ORIENTALS LEAD RIVALS.

Degree Team May Gain Prize Offered by Grand Council.

At a class initiation last night at the old Masonic Temple the degree team of Oriental Chapter, Royal Arcanum, made a strong bid for the first prize offered by the Grand Council for the council showing the best initiatory work during the present year.

A large number of new candidates were on hand for the degree. The judges of the work are the members of the committee on the state of the order of the Grand Council, which is composed of the grand regent, Dr. Glendon H. Young; the grand vice regent, M. Barlow Merrill; the grand orator, Edward A. Nissen; the sitting past grand regent, S. J. Bessiere; and Charles D. Shackelford, member.

Two other prizes also were offered for the second and third best teams. The winners, however, will not be known until the degree team of all the councils is judged by the committee.

After the initiation Clayton E. Emly gave an interesting account of a trip he made last summer to England, Scotland, Ireland, and Holland.

Housekeepers Meet Today.

Miss Helen Louise Johnson, chairman of the home economics department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will address the Housekeepers' Alliance at a meeting to be held this afternoon at the home of William P. Andrews, 1225 Fairmont Street Northwest. There will be a tea from 4 to 6 o'clock to meet Miss Johnson. Mrs. Andrews will be hostess.

ROVER OUTLINES POLICIES.

K. of C. Held First Meeting Under New Administration.

Grand Knight Leo H. Rover convened the first meeting of the new administration of the Washington Council, No. 254, Knights of Columbus, at Knights of Columbus Hall, 601 E Street Northwest, last night. The newly elected grand knight outlined special policies that he will follow during his administration and made the assignments of committees.

Pathe & J. Morris is the new chairman, and John F. Luffich, the new secretary of the council. The committee assignments included the following chairmen: Employment, James H. Johnson, Jr.; funeral, Lawrence Mangum; sick, Dr. E. J. Collins; relief, James E. Collins; honor, and degree, Wallace H. Morris; George E. Hoppert and Francis H. Morarity are delegates to the Washington chapter.

The Rev. Bertrand L. Conway, the learned pastor of the New York City, addressed the assembly on the relationship of the Knights of Columbus to their non-Catholic brethren.

"IT'S CHEAP RAGTIME IN HYMNS NOWADAYS"

Brooklyn Divine Says They Should Be Sent to Old Women's Home.

A tirade to the nearest old women's home was recommended as the proper thing for some of the present day, or "ragtime hymns," by the Rev. Dr. Milton Littlefield, of Brooklyn, at the closing meeting of the Sunday school institute at Ingram Memorial Church last night.

A hymn in which the singer says he is "poor and weak and blind," the Rev. Dr. Littlefield said, is not fit for children because the singer is neither poor, weak nor blind. It should be sung only at meetings where such persons predominate, he said.

Take the hymn recommended for children called "Jesus Little Lamb," said the Rev. Dr. Littlefield. "Nothing in it is suggested to a child but a woolly lamb in a pasture. Many of the hymns are cheap bits of ragtime that never have been written. They are absolutely senseless."

"Hymns should enlarge the intellect. They should contain melody and harmony. The words of some of our hymns possess no affinity with the strain. They are foolish, and some are even cheaply versed. There should be a radical cleaning out. Hymns that can be understood by children should be substituted."

FUNERAL OF J. H. MOSER.

Body of Well-Known Painter Sent to West Cornwall, Conn.

Funeral services for James Henry Moser, one of America's best-known painters in water colors and president of the Washington Water Color Club, were held at his residence, 1314 G Street, last night. The body was taken to West Cornwall, Conn., where, after services by the Rev. S. M. Newman, president of Howard University, assisted by the Rev. Lewis Purdum, pastor of the First Congregational Church, the body will be interred.

There were a great number of floral tributes from the various organizations to which Mr. Moser belonged, and among the throng of friends of the artist were many of the prominent teachers of the city.

The services to pay their last respects to the teacher to whose ability and thoroughness they owed much, and the friends of the artist were held at the residence of Mr. Moser, 1314 G Street, last night. The body was taken to West Cornwall, Conn., where, after services by the Rev. S. M. Newman, president of Howard University, assisted by the Rev. Lewis Purdum, pastor of the First Congregational Church, the body will be interred.

GOMPERS EXPELS DELEGATE.

New Jersey Man Driven from Convention of A. F. of L.

Seattle, Nov. 11.—The American Federation of Labor expelled a delegate from the convention of the American Federation of Labor, held here last night. Jacob Tasseler, of Orange, N. J., because of revelations concerning him by Col. Mulhall before the recent lobby investigation. Tasseler was driven from the convention by a vote of 1,000 to 500. The session was taken up principally with committee reports. There have been rumors of revolt against the old officers, but so far there has been no outward sign of any organized movement to depose the present heads.

BUSINESS MEN TO AID IN RAISING SIBLEY FUND

Committee Will Work to Obtain $50,000 Needed by the Hospital.

Dr. William H. Wilder, superintendent of the hospital, will announce today the personnel of a committee of business men which has been organized to help in raising $50,000 to help the work of Sibley Hospital at North Capitol and M Streets.

Graduate and student nurses at the hospital, who have undertaken to raise most of the money, have met with success. Several large gifts will be announced shortly, according to officials.

William J. Sibley, for whom the hospital was named, made possible the work of the hospital. This hospital never has received help from Congress, but has been maintained by gifts.

Thirty-five thousand dollars is needed to equip the dispensary and emergency departments of the hospital. The new hospital building. Equipment of an x-ray department and twenty rooms for patients will cost $10,000 and $5,000 is needed to furnish rooms.

Friends of the hospital have contributed $10,000 of the $55,000 needed, and it is hoped to raise the amount of the deficit in this city.

Committees of nurses in charge of the campaign include the following: Miss Fannie Hinman, Miss Edith Payne, Miss Neta Todd, and Miss Alda Jure; chosen aides, Miss Jure, Miss Todd, Miss Fannie Hinman, and Miss Payne; graduate nurses, Lenora Mosher, Miss Todd, Miss Catherine Zellen, Miss Jure, and Miss Dora Borel, and undergraduates, Miss Frances Moore, Miss Angelina Plummer, Miss Todd, and Miss Mamie Patterson.

PLEA FOR LOWER SCHOOLS IS MADE

Too Much Attention Given Higher Teaching, It Is Declared.

COMMISSIONER CLAXTON AND OTHERS DISCUSS MATTER AT MEETING OF ASSOCIATION OF STATE UNIVERSITIES.

Declarations that the United States is facing one of the "greatest problems of its statesmanship" in the education of children, in the rural schools and that the "lower system of education" in the country is "shockingly neglected," as the result of too much attention being given to higher education, were made by United States Commissioner of Education Claxton, Prof. Adolph C. Miller, assistant to the Secretary of the Interior, and other educators at the annual meeting of the National Association of State Universities, at the Willard yesterday.

In a plea that more attention be paid to rural school education, Commissioner Claxton pointed out that approximately 60 per cent of the children under instruction in the country were in the schools in rural districts. He declared that the teachers in these schools for the most part, were not as well prepared for teaching as they should be.

"The nation's future in the greatest measure depends upon the education of these children," declared the speaker. "For these children will be the nation's voters and protection in the next generation. There should be some system whereby the country could supply its rural schools with standard teachers. At present possibly about ten per cent of the teachers in the rural schools of the country have received the needed normal training. The other ninety per cent have not received the proper preparation."

Prof. Miller declared that lower school education had been "shockingly neglected" in the United States. "The dollars are more needed in the lower system," he said. "For the people there are doing a greater work for the democracy of the nation than elsewhere. Resolutions were unanimously adopted by the association urging that Congress appropriate more liberal sums in the future for the carrying out of the plans of the National Bureau of Education."

C. A. Dunaway, president of the University of Wyoming, at the morning session of the association urged the establishment in the State universities of courses which would be of value to the future diplomats of the country.

University of California, vice president, of the University of Oregon; Chancellor A. A. Kinnaman, of the University of Minnesota, and others read papers and made addresses at the afternoon session.

President Thomas F. Kane, of the University of Michigan, was unanimously chosen president of the association; President Benjamin H. Wheeler, of the University of California, vice president, and President Guy Potter Henton, of the University of Vermont, secretary and treasurer. Commissioner Claxton, Chancellor Avery and Chancellor Kinnaman were chosen members of the executive committee.

It was the general sentiment of the executive committee, which has the selection of a place for the next meeting of the association, that it be held in Washington. This matter will be decided later.

ROWZEE TELLS POLICE HIS MIND IS A BLANK

Man Held for Murder of J. D. Rogers Says He Has No Recollection of Committing Deed.

Claiming his mind is blank as to what happened, Clarence P. Rowzee, who shot and killed Joseph D. Rogers, of the New York Avenue lunch-room proprietor, Sunday morning, and then shot himself in the head, told Central Office Detective Baur yesterday at Emergency Hospital he knew nothing of the affair.

Rowzee showed such improvement Dr. Lewis, superintendent of the hospital, permitted the police to question him. He answered all questions asked him by Detective Baur. He said he cannot understand how he got to Washington.

Detective Baur is of the opinion Rowzee is feigning his mind is blank as to the shooting, so as to help his case when he is tried for the murder of Rogers. An inquest over the body of Rogers is planned for tomorrow at 11:30 o'clock at the District Morgue. Both Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Rowzee are expected to testify.

Child Found Near Home.

Littleton Run, seven-year-old niece of Mrs. A. J. Hasko, of Bladensburg, and Northeast, was found late last night after a score of policemen and a patrolman searched the vicinity of the National Training School for Boys, but failed to find her. She was hardly a hundred yards from her home.
